Definition of vehicle condition:
- Below average: Applies to vehicles that are in noticeably worse condition than other vehicles of a similar age and mileage. Examples include multiple minor dents, larger scuffs, numerous scratches, differences in paint colour, missing trim pieces, holes in the upholstery, possible rust spots, and other signs of excessive wear or damage.
- Average: Applies to vehicles that are in a condition typical of vehicles of a similar age and mileage. For example, an 8-year-old vehicle showing visible signs of normal wear and tear, minor scratches, small paint imperfections, occasional paint damage caused by corrosion, worn upholstery, and minor faults in the operation of equipment should be classified as being in average condition.
- Above average: Applies exclusively to vehicles in exceptionally good, virtually flawless condition. The vehicle must be in outstanding condition relative to it's age and mileage, with no visible signs of damage, defects, or faults.
